CM1203 - Java
Cinema Booking System

I chose to implement the Cinema Booking System as i felt this was the most realistic task, abstraction was an important aspect of my project and wherever possible I created a class. All my source code is heavily documented and i have produced Javadoc explaining every class and method, this can be found at (javadoc/index.html).

Unfortunately the user interface itself was never fully completed. However i did implement the vast majority of the underlying code.
